

Casey Camp-Horinek

Ponca City, Oklahoma and White Eagle Indian Community

Casey Camp-Horinek is a member of the Ponca Nation of Oklahoma. A life long political and environmental activist, Casey has founded the Coyote Creek Center for Environmental Justice to educate and empower Native American Communities facing gross injustice through environmental pollution and the ensuing socio economic impacts. In the 1980's Casey worked directly with Cary Dickerson and Grace Thorpe to halt the infamous "Black Fox" power plant. In addition, Casey has marched with Caesar Chavez, worked actively with the American Indian Movement, and helped stop a hazardous waste facility from being built on the site of the historic Chilocco Indian School in North Central Oklahoma.

Contact Information:

Casey Camp-Horinek, Director
Coyote Creek Center for Environmental Justice
27100 Acre Road
Marland, OK 74644
580.268.3017
caseycamphorinek@yahoo.com